Judge's Comments:

I have to comment on the 2nd placed love bird, the American cinnamon orangefaced green, because that lovebird won first place in the 1999 GABS in Puerto Rico and has won many shows since. Never the less this time, although in good condition, it didn't come in his best and was beat by a magnificent Australian cinnamon violet whitefaced. In all it was an interesting show because American and Australian cinnamons competed side by side in all classes. Although there were many very good quality lovebirds, the general quality of those two lovebirds was noticeable above all the others.
